Service description

Beyond Disruption's free talk is your first step towards a deeper understanding of operational resilience management. This entry-level offering lets you explore the challenges facing your business, with no commitment.

A four-step process

01 First contact

A conversation to understand your industry, the major challenges ahead and your competitive landscape.

02 Context analysis

I run a brief analysis (PESTEL, SWOT) to frame the talk, drawing on my own experience and translating these pillars into your company's context.

03 The talk

A one to two-hour session, delivered as an executive briefing, a contribution to a workshop, or a talk within your company's own programme.

04 Wrap-up

A 30-minute call at most, within one month of the talk, to review and discuss the insights gathered. No commitment.

What you take away

- A clear understanding of your operational challenges and sector dynamics.
- Practical, concrete tools to assess your current situation.
- Access to Beyond Disruption's expertise at no initial cost.

Free of charge

The talk is entirely free of charge; only applicable travel expenses are invoiced. It is the ideal opportunity to explore how to strengthen your organisation's operational resilience.
